Campers from Brooklyn and Manhattan explore friendship, nature, aquatics, and new ideas on our beautiful campgrounds on Staten Island, in a safe, nurturing and kid-charged environment. The program units are: Sports, Science and Technology, Arts and Crafts, Gymnastics, Martial Arts, Performing Arts, Photojournalism, and Cooking, Camping and Pioneering. After trying out our different program units, campers are supported in making educated decisions about where to focus their time, helping them to become confident and independent people. Campers also swim twice a day, with both instructional and recreational periods. These stories prompt explorations of universal concepts through participation in all of our program units with a culminating Shabbat celebration every Friday.
